

CALL FOR PAPERS

Thematic issue in Anesthesia & Analgesia for October 2022

The field and practice of perioperative medicine continue to evolve, in the process encountering controversies and creating innovations. The Section of Perioperative Medicine is pleased to announce a planned thematic issue of Anesthesia & Analgesia. We invite you and your colleagues to submit your perioperative medicine-focused work, including the following manuscript types:

- Original Clinical, Health Services or Education Research Report
- Original Laboratory Research Report
- Narrative Review Article
- Systematic Review Articles
- Meta-Analysis
- The Open Mind
- Special Article

To facilitate discussion on this topic, Anesthesia & Analgesia issues this call for papers on "Innovations and Controversies in Perioperative Medicine." Guest edited by T J Gan M.D., submissions of original research are sought in areas related to this topic for consideration for publication in Anesthesia & Analgesia. Authors should review the Journal's current "Instructions for Authors" at: <http://www.editorialmanager.com/aa>.

Interested authors can contact Dr. T J Gan at tong.gan@stonybrookmedicine.edu for additional information or to discuss specific topic proposals for the "Innovations and Controversies in Perioperative Medicine" thematic issue.

The deadline for initial manuscript submission is April 1, 2022.

Publication of this Thematic Issue is planned for October 2022.